

I wish to comment on any possible proposal that the FCC might be considering which would lessen the effect that the current Indiana Telephone Privacy law contains. Indiana's law has had a tremendous effect on stopping, not curbing, telemarketing during our evening and weekend hours. Anything less than this would be detrimental to our freedom at home.